I. Objective of CAP/Introduction:

The Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) recognizes that public participation is an important element of all FDOT projects. People are much more likely to tolerate the inconvenience of a construction project if they understand the need for the work and have good information about the project. As such, FDOT places an emphasis on communicating with the community during a project's design phase. A Community Awareness Plan (CAP) is intended to identify appropriate outreach activities based on the type of project and potential community concerns. The CAP is developed specific to each project and is intended to provide a strategic plan for achieving the following:

- Determining design implications in relation to community impacts,
- Ensuring FDOT commitments are met,
- Allowing for public involvement when necessary to address public concerns, and
- Developing Maintenance of Traffic (MOT) plans for use during construction.

This document has been specifically developed for FPID XXXXXX-X and will provide the following as it relates to this project:

- A summary of the project team and its key members,
- A description of the project,
- A description of project issues and impacts,
- The designated public involvement level for the project, and
- A summary and anticipated timeline of project activities.
